COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The forms for declaring property and polls are in the center of the town report again this year. There are two very good reasons for the completion and return of the form. The form is of great assistance to the board of assessors. It insures that a taxpayer is taxed for property that he owns. The other reason is that a taxpayer loses any right to appeal for abatement when a list is not returned. The form is the same as last year except that a provision is made for the declaration of snow vehicles. If anyone has any questions about the form, they can call or visit the office and I will attempt to assist them.

The well driller found water at West Bethel and it seems to be a very good volume. It is not a screen well as originally planned. The material was sampled all the way down, and there was nothing suitable for a screen. The driller went down two hundred and ninety feet before he found ledge. The material for the two hundred and ninety feet was layers of fine sand and clay. The water vein was hit at about three hundred and twenty feet and the man drilling the well kept going until he reached three hundred and eighty feet. A pump has been ordered and as soon as it arrives the well will be connected to the distribution system. I would like to say that the people of West Bethel have been very patient during the period that it took to get the new supply of water. I feel quite sure that the people served by the system will have better pressure from now on.

The voting list is being revised and will be printed again prior to the June primary elections. It would help if anyone who is eligible to register and plans to register would do so within the next week.

DUTIES OF CURRICULUM SUPERVISOR EXPLAINED

Creation of a new position, curriculum supervisor, by the directors of SAD 41 (Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Newry, and Woodstock), has evoked a variety of questions from many corners of the district—some containing a note of criticism, others prompted by curiosity only.

The post, carrying an annual salary of $3500, to be prorated, was awarded to Ralph Ryder, effective in mid-February. Mr. Ryder had been serving as elementary supervising principal in Bethel schools, since September, 1964. His salary is being financed under Title I, Elementary and Secondary Act, National Defense Education Act.

That answers the question, "Who's going to pay for it?" and is also why the curriculum committee felt it could go forward with hiring a person whose need had become quite evident during their preparation of a curriculum which would be suited for adoption by the new, proposed district high school.

A discussion with Mr. Ryder and District Superintendent Horace Maxey, produced answers to further questions, the first of which was, "What will the curriculum supervisor be doing?"

Mr. Ryder said he will be directly responsible for the curriculum (course of study) and supervision of such in all of the elementary schools in the district. "I will be working with the principals and teachers in attempting to coordinate the entire elementary program with that of the current secondary school in the district and eventually the new proposed district high school," he said.

His duties are specifically outlined in the application for funds for the program as:

1. To set up a course of study which includes continuity of meaningful experiences, multiple approaches, correlation of subject areas and extensions of educational opportunities based on levels of achievement.

2. To assist in the selection of textbooks and teaching aids accompanied by considerations of the educational philosophy of the district.

3. To give a thorough evaluation of all available materials and continue on Page Four

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "Regarding the letter and reply (which appeared in a December column) commencing, 'I am sixteen and very bashful...' it reminds me of my own youth. I am 51 years of age now. I cannot agree with your advice to find a subject to talk about. How many gatherings of adults have you seen who have difficulty finding something to talk about? Add the emotional confusion of a groping adolescent to this common difficulty and it is apparent that it is impossible to do as you suggest. Judging from my youthful experiences I would say this boy-girl friends will never get to first base unless he proceeds by light-hearted teasing when she is around. He must not allow his emotions to show although he should never ignore her presence. Most of all, he should keep in mind that she is probably having difficulty, too, and try to help her out. Get her laughing and relaxed and conversation will come naturally. 'Shy Hero, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada.'

OUR REPLY: Your theory is excellent. It works. The problem is usually that a bashful lad cannot think of any "cute" or teasing remarks to say. And, if he thinks of them, is too bashful to say them.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

CURRICULUM SUPERVISOR

 the development of the district's curriculum.
 4. To set up conferences, with parents and other interested citizens, staff members, and community groups, to determine the needs and advisability of curriculum change.
 5. To pursue family organization that allows for cooperative planning, evaluation and action.
 6. To advise personnel concerned of community resources, both in terms of people and the community itself.
 7. To keep the staff informed of excellent services of special-interest groups, consultants and resource personnel.
 8. To assist in developing a program of testing and evaluation.
 9. To assist in integrating the curriculum program with the secondary program.
 10. To assist the superintendent of schools and principals in the evaluation of teachers.
 The Hyder reviewed the fact that there are not only five towns in the district, but that they represent three different school systems. Under the union form of organization, the joint union committee cooperated with the superintendent to form a philosophy of education, which they would generally recommend to the member towns.
 However, financing the programs could be created or rejected by each town, individually, according to how well it was doing in the town's taxpayers. Many towns cutting such desirable items as textbooks, even if obsolete, textbooks became the priority, with subsequent effect to the curriculum.
 Another inconsistency, which is not limited to the total district, is that a traveling staff frequently includes persons traveling in a subject area, or grade level, other than the one for which he or she is best qualified. Mr. Hyder said the "law of supply and demand" is the chief cause of this problem. But cited it as one instance where the development of curriculum guides assist the elementary staff in conducting a systematic progression of instruction rather than either duplicating or leaving content matter and learning skill development, along the way.
 After understanding the need

 of 121 days of semi-private coverage.
 4. Medicare, with rare exceptions, will not cover services received outside the United States. For members who require emergency or accident hospital care outside the United States which is not covered by Medicare, "Blue Cross-Blue Shield 65" will cover the full cost of covered semi-private care.
 5. Medicare does not cover the cost of charges for diagnostic services in any hospital outpatient department. "Blue Cross-Blue Shield 65" will pay the $20.00.
 6. After the $20.00 diagnostic deductible, Medicare pays 80 per cent of diagnostic outpatient charges for a period of 23 days. "Blue Cross-Blue Shield 65" will pay the 20 per cent not covered by Medicare.
 7. Medicare does not cover treatment in the hospital emergency room. "Blue Cross-Blue Shield 65" will cover, in full, emergency room care for accidents and sudden illness treated within 72 hours of onset.
 8. Under Part "B" of the Plan, for curriculum supervision, the question now is "Why can't the principal do curriculum coordination?"
 The answer not only concerns the members of the district, but its size and the number of personnel involved. There are 1,174 pupils enrolled in the 11 district-operated schools with 59 teachers.
 In all, there is only one full-time principal, the principal of the Bethel elementary schools. He is already responsible for 493 pupils in four of the schools, plus 32 enrolled persons. He has administrative and supervisory duties as well as being expected to attend numerous, and varied meetings and conferences.
 The teaching principals on the staff have a first obligation to the children in their classrooms. Mr. Hyder pointed out that, in the performance of his instructional duties, the teacher-principal is frequently interrupted by book orders, students from other rooms, telephone calls. It seems inconceivable if such a person is able to have opportunity to work with his own staff other than at school hours.
 In the school which Mr. Hyder was supervising in Bethel, a project was started by the teaching staff last year, to develop a curriculum guide for the reading program, the only available guide being one published in 1959, by the State Department of Education.
 During his first two weeks in his new role, Mr. Hyder had already discovered that many of the schools need new equipment, text, library books, and other materials. Supplying the need, and seeing that the teaching staff is oriented to using them effectively, is essential, for as the new curriculum supervisor summarizes:
 "The students in our elementary grades will eventually be attending a new district high school in order for our young people to meet with success, it is important that they be given the same opportunity as far as the tools of learning are concerned."

20 SECONDS WITH THE NAZARENE

There's an old Chinese proverb that, if practiced each day,
 Would change the whole world in a wonderful way.
 It's truth is so simple; it's so easy to do,
 And it works every time—and successfully, too.
 For you can't do a kindness without a reward,
 Not in silver or gold, but in joy from the Lord—
 You can't light a candle to show others the way
 Without feeling yourself the warmth of that ray.
 And you can't pluck a rose, all fragrant with dew,
 Without part of its fragrance remaining with you.
